Chautauqua 2017

On July 1st, invited by the Chautauqua Institution Catholic Community, I headed to Chautauqua to be one of the Catholic chaplains for week two, fondly called National Geographic Week. The theme for the morning lectures: The Human Journey: Origins, Exploration and Preservation. Monday began with renown paleoanthropologist Lee Berger sharing his groundbreaking discoveries; skeletal remains of two previously unknown hominids: Australopithecus sediba and Homo neledi. Next we went under the ocean with National Geographic wildlife photojournalist Brian Skerry. On Wednesday Marine biologist Asha de Vos shared research and conservation efforts for a unique population of blue whales, while lion biologist Thandiwe Mweetwa brought us into the world of conservation and outreach work in Zambia. Engineer Shah Selbe shared how engineering solutions have dramatically increased our knowledge of the ocean, and insight into the impact of not caring for our environment. The week wrapped up with archeologist Kristin Romey, showing slides of the recent excavation in the church of the Holy Sepulchre, in advance of the restoration of the tomb of Christ, among other explorations. Each afternoon, another set of speakers led us to reflect on the theme chosen by the Department of Religion and Philosophy, in week two: Celebrating the Genius and Soul of the Nation (against the backdrop of great celebrations of the 4th of July).

In addition as is always the case at Chautauqua Institution, there were outstanding concerts by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra (CSO), the Youth Orchestra, piano recitals, organ concerts, ballet, listening to opera rehearsals while sitting on the porch of Catholic House, opportunities to take in various master classes, and great discussions after experiencing and absorbing so much.

Along with presiding at the weekend Masses, daily Mass each day, and being available for confessions, Catholic Chaplains are also invited to offer one seminar during their stay. Knowing the nature of the morning lecture series, I titled the seminar I led: Biblical Visions of Planet Earth. We looked at places in the Bible which speak about creation and the natural world God has given us, then naturally moved into conversation about Laudato Si, Pope Francis’ encyclical on The Care of Our Common Home.

If you haven’t read Laudato Si, I strongly encourage it. It teaches the biblical perspective on our planet, brings together teachings of recent Popes, of various Bishop’s conferences, and the best current scientific research. Pope Francis effectively dismisses the misinterpretation of the creation story, “Have dominion over the fish of the sea, the birds of the air ….” This does NOT mean do what you want with the earth. We are to have dominion as God does, caring for, replenishing the earth, exercising our best stewardship. Pointing to St. Francis as patron of caring for the earth, Pope Francis raised the perfect question: “How do you treat someone you love deeply?” Everyone at the seminar had witnessed the love, the passion each presenter named above has for our common home. May we grow in love for our common home! Peace, Fr. Bob

God’s Holy Word

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

1st Reading: Isaiah 55:10 – 11
God’s word is fertile and fruitful

2nd Reading: Romans 8:18 – 23
All creation is groaning to give birth

Gospel: Matthew 13:1 – 23
A sower went out to sow

Creation Speaks
Among books in the Hebrew Scriptures, some of the poetry in the book of Isaiah is unequalled. Though, like other books, Isaiah includes oracles against the nations, and passages that decry injustices in Israel, in other places, particularly the third section of Isaiah, the ways in which the prophet communicates God’s love are so vivid, one can be immersed in the love just meditating on the passage. Think for instance of the beautiful description of the peaceable kingdom, where the lion will lay down with the lamb! Creation can be a powerful window into God’s infinite love. Today, Isaiah uses symbols of rain, sprouting plants and ultimately bread to focus on the efficacy of God’s Word. Like Jesus, Isaiah could hear God speaking through nature.

Creation Groans
Theologians sometimes speak of the Kingdom of God as the already-not-yet. In other words, we can experience transformation through God’s grace at work in our lives, as the reign of God takes root in us, but God is never done with us on this side of death. We are always still a work in progress. St. Paul captures this well, introducing a strange yet compelling image. All creation is groaning in labor pains, straining forward toward fullness, complete redemption. Do spend time with this passage. It is an excellent one for lectio divina. In short, read it once, pause, slowly read it again, then read it yet a third time, savoring each word, until the groaning becomes real, with the hope of redemption ignited inside.

Creation Provides Parables
C.H. Dodd, in his book, The Parables of the Kingdom, gives a definition of a parable that truly cuts to the chase: “At its simplest, the parable is a metaphor or simile drawn from nature or common life, arresting the hearer by its vividness or strangeness, and leaving the mind in sufficient doubt about its precise application to tease it into active thought.” Most scholars today would say that in our Gospel, we can attribute the basic parable to Jesus, who would have left sufficient doubt in the hearer to tease their mind into active thought, but that the early church felt the need to provide the added allegorical interpretation, to help explain why some people accepted the Gospel, some did not, and others accepted, but then fell away. About that understanding, Joachim Jeremias had this to say: “I have long held out against the conclusion that this interpretation (of the parable) must be ascribed to the primitive church; but on linguistic grounds alone, it is unavoidable.” How comfortable are you with doubt, which forces you to think more deeply? That is a better question than trying to decide who is stony ground, who has let the thorns take over, and who is good ground!!

Looking Ahead: Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

1st Reading: Wisdom 12:13, 16 – 19
Those who are just must be kind

2nd Reading: Romans 8:26 – 27
The Spirit intercedes for us

Gospel: Matthew 13:24 – 43
The righteous shall shine like the sun

THIS WEEK’S TITHING WILL SUPPORT PITTSFORD FOOD CUPBOARD

NEXT WEEK’S TITHING WILL SUPPORT ANGEL CARE

Founded in 1985, Angel Care, a ministry of Blessed Marianne Cope Parish in Henrietta, promotes a pro-life culture in Monroe County by providing material and spiritual support to women who have chosen life despite difficult circumstances. Funded through charitable donations, the ministry is run completely by volunteers and there are no administrative costs. Angel Care assists mothers in financial difficulty by providing new portable baby beds for their newborn babies. This ensures that their baby will have a safe place to sleep that would otherwise be difficult for the mother to provide at the time of the baby’s birth. Angel Care also provides new and gently used baby items upon request (e.g., sleepers, onesies, clothes, blankets, outerwear as well as diapers, wipes, grooming products, etc.).

Referrals are made by social workers, case workers, and other contacts from various social agencies, hospitals, etc., in Monroe County that work with new mothers in need. Volunteers are always needed at the Angel Care site to assemble items asked for, to make arrangements to have items picked up, to pick up portable baby beds (pack-and-play types) ordered from local retailers, to wash and sort gently used items that are donated, and to shop garage sales, etc., for gently-used baby clothing for use in layettes. For more information, contact Noreen Mancini by phone: 585-321-0236 or by email: eloisestelle@yahoo.com.

Last weekend, July 8-9, Sr. Agnes Mathew conducted Mission Appeals at St. Louis on behalf of their congregation, the Society of Christu Jyothi Sisters (Sisters of Christ the Light). The sisters are from Southern India. Their works in India include evangelization, education, pastoral and prison ministry, care of child laborers, school dropouts, the hearing and speech impaired, the mentally challenged and empowerment of women and children. Thank you for your generous support of their mission work with your prayers and donations. God bless you.

“To intercede means to send someone an angel.”
[Martin Luther, 1483-1546]

“As Abraham intervened by his prayer for the inhabitants of Sodom, as Jesus prayed for his disciples, and as the early Christian community looked “not only to [their] own interests, but also to the interests of others” (Phil 2:4), so too Christians always pray for everyone – for people who are dear to their hearts, for people who are not close to them, and even for their enemies.
[Youth Catechism §§2634-2636, 2647].

We can all pray for each other. Join us in building a new ministry of prayer! As the Body of Christ, we can help each other out and hold each other up by putting our hands together in prayer for one another. The beautiful thing about prayer is that it can be done in the comfort and quiet of your own home, privately in a public place or with the assembly of God’s people. Prayer is an activity open to people of all ages. There are truly no limits!

We will accept prayer requests, share them with only those in the network, and pray for each other and our loved ones and friends through the challenges of life. If you would like to help start this new prayer network for the needs and people of St. Louis Church, please call Cathy Malik in the Ministry Center at 586-5675, ext. 228.
In My Own Words . . .

My wife and I moved here from Hamburg, NY in 2001 and visited several churches before we settled on St. Louis. We liked the great music and very friendly people, and Marcia and I couldn’t wait to become as active as we were in Hamburg.

I became an Usher and Marcia became a Eucharistic Minister. It was our way of being a part of the Church in Stewardship, in managing the property of our Lord as proclaimed in the Scriptures.

Being an Usher is more than taking up the collection, and saying “Thank You” for the monetary gift. It is a gesture of being thankful to the Lord. Finding a place for someone to sit, handing out bulletins at the end of Mass, or welcoming parishioners to God’s house are also Usher’s jobs.

A “Good Morning” makes everyone feel the presence of being in the house of the Lord, and lets them know that we are glad to see them. When a parishioner isn’t at Mass, I notice and ask about them because they are a part of God’s children and our Parish.

As an Usher, helping others feel at home in God’s house is my gift to St. Louis which has given so much to me.

God Bless and Mary Loves you,
Dick Hilliard

“I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you because the whole world is hearing about your faith.” Romans 1:8

I know that the members of your faith community [St. Louis Church] understand these beautiful words of St. Paul. Our Church is a missionary Church, a universal Church that brings the faith to the whole world. We are able to thank your people for their prayers and gift of $3,441.50 in support of the work of the Sisters of St. Joseph in Brazil and the Sisters of Mercy in Chile. May the generous Lord bless you and your people for reaching out to help our friends in the name of Christ.

The ECHO series is a video-based study of the United States Catholic Catechism of Adults (USCCA). These short and engaging videos introduce each chapter of the USCCA and provide an inspiring start to personal or group study of our rich Catholic Faith.

Using modern media can either hinder our ability to discern God’s voice in the silence of the heart, or it can be a tool for learning and evangelization. This study gives us some practical tools to live vibrant Christian lives in a media-saturated culture.

Dear Fr. Ring & Congregation: June 9, 2017

Thank you for your kind and generous donation of $1,000 to Mercy Bridges. We are blessed to have received such a tithing gift. Your faithfulness in remembering our ministry is greatly appreciated. This adult ministry of the Sisters of Mercy serves many people in our communities who long to improve their literacy skills. We continue to receive numerous requests for assistance and your support enables us to continue to respond to the needs of people by assisting in the training of tutors and in the purchase of instructional materials.

We are pleased that several of our learners have become citizens, received promotions at work or have even received new job responsibilities as a result of being tutored by Mercy Bridges’ volunteers. We are completely dependent on donations and we are grateful for your support of this much-needed ministry.

Again, please know of our appreciation for your support that enables us to open a new chapter in the lives of those we serve. You are good! God bless!

Sincerely,

Sr. Kathrine Ann Rappl, RSM, Co-Director
Sr. Dolores Ann Stein, RSM, Co-Director
