What Happened On That Mountain?

Along with celebrating the Feast of the Transfiguration every August, the church invites us to contemplate the Transfiguration the second Sunday of every Lent. What exactly happened on Mt Tabor? Jesus was transfigured, not transformed. He didn’t change, but his appearance did. The miracle: Peter, James and John saw Jesus’s nature as God, not just his human nature. No wonder the evangelists struggled to find a way to describe the event. Clothes becoming dazzlingly white – not a bad way to convey that the appearance was luminous, though the person standing there was still very clearly Jesus of Nazareth.

I’ve been to the actual Mt Tabor, and it was a powerful experience. If it is possible for you to get to the Holy Land, by all means, go! But truth be told, long before traveling to Galilee, experiences in life helped me understand transfiguration. Perhaps with a small “t” rather than a capital “T”, but transfiguration none the less. When? Where?

I’ve had glimpses of the divine at the baptismal font. The baptismal candle is not the only thing that radiates light and warmth when parents, godparents, grandparents, family and friends stand around the baptismal font. Does everyone see the child, their parents, or anyone transfigured? No. But do you have to be Peter, James or John to see divinity shining through humanity? Absolutely not! Another place likely for one of these holy experiences: a wedding. I can’t begin to count how many times, during the wedding vows, as brides and grooms look into each other’s eyes, I find myself like Peter, hardly knowing what to say. Thank God for the book in my hand! It can happen during anointing of the sick. It can happen in any sacrament, often as someone is receiving Holy Communion. Am I stretching here? No! We are called to become the body of Christ. There are times that truth shines through. If I had to build a tent every time – well, there isn’t enough canvas in the world.

The examples above are all sacramental, but there are many other transfiguring moments as well. The birth of a child. Moments when true heroism shines forth. Mother Theresa could see divinity shining through the poorest of the poor. Teachers can witness wonder in a classroom. Notice in our Gospel, transfiguration is not a solitary event, nor is it a photo op. It is relational, experiential; Peter, James and John even have a chance to glimpse holy figures of the past. Transfiguration, like all experiences of the divine, somehow escape the confines of the clock, and ordinary time.

Pondering all this, remember – it is easy to see what we expect and assume, but much more challenging to see what is beyond our comprehension; that which doesn’t fit into our ‘ordinary’, secular categories. But begin to believe in the spiritual world, the kingdom Jesus proclaimed, and you’ll be amazed at what may open up before you. Peace! Fr. Bob

Sunday Communion Service - March 8
The Highlands: Doris Wilmot
Heather Heights: Mary Ann Monley
Our Weekend Scriptures:
2nd Sunday in Lent

1st Reading: Genesis 22:1-2, 9a, 10-13, 15-18
The binding of Isaac

2nd Reading: Romans 8:31b-34
God is for us, who can be against?

Gospel: Mark 9:2-10
It is good that we are here!

Texts of Terror
So how does Bible study help us? Try to imagine how a son might hear today’s 1st reading about Abraham preparing to sacrifice his son. Or a mother’s visceral reaction. Those ways of hearing or reacting demand a response. At times, the simple, literal sense of a passage can be a stumbling block to finding the spiritual sense. Bible study can help us discover that the primitive origin of this text is connected to abandoning child sacrifice, not God requiring it. In Bible study, we grow to appreciate the testing of Abraham’s faith: his future was totally wrapped up in Isaac. His radical trust and obedience become clearer. We might also discover that in later Judaism, rabbis began to focus not solely on Abraham’s obedience, but also Isaac’s voluntary surrender. This was further connected to the Passover lamb, with atoning significance. The New Testament views the binding of Isaac as preparing us to understand Jesus’ sacrifice. Deeper questions lead to better answers. Is the terror of the text from God’s side, or within the human heart? Is the answer to the ‘test’ to be found in Abraham, or God providing the sacrifice?

Legal Argument
What better way to win an argument than to prove the absurdity of the opposite point of view? St. Paul does this masterfully in our second reading. God didn’t spare his own Son (the Abraham/Isaac typology). He acquits us, Jesus died for us, was raised from the dead and now intercedes for us: how can we not trust completely? How can we ever think God is out to get us? God has our back; God is ever on our side.

Parallel Journeys
Mark’s Gospel was not written to simply provide information for anyone with a passing interest in Jesus. He was teaching his community: see the journey of faith that the apostles traveled; recognize in it your journey, a journey we all must travel. We are all called. We often fail to understand. Jesus patiently explains things, corrects our misunderstandings, just as he did with the disciples. Jesus called us to follow him through obedience and loving self-sacrifice, through death to resurrection. Transfiguration too is part of our journey: coming to see Jesus not just as a great teacher, but as the Messiah, the Son of God, the fulfillment of the law (Moses) and the prophets (Elijah). Building on Mark, Luke’s Gospel provides two rich examples of this vital juncture in the journey of discipleship:

Preparing for Next Weekend:
3rd Sunday in Lent

1st Reading: Exodus 17:3-7
Water from the rock

2nd Reading: Romans 5:1-2, 5-8
We have peace with God through Jesus

Gospel: John 4:5-42
Give us Living Water

Choices, Choices! Cycle A, B, and C and have a set of readings for the last three Sundays of Lent. But the lectionary makes it clear, when there are those to be baptized, cycle A is to be used, and the cycle A readings can always be used in place of the B & C readings: the woman at the well, healing of the man born blind and the raising of Lazarus are that important. We will be using cycle A this Lent. The scrutinies will take place at the 11AM Mass.

Truly your Sunday offering makes a difference! Your contributions make every program here at St. Louis possible: religious education for our children, adult education for adults, formation for those choosing to become Catholic, pastoral care for those in the hospital and our senior residence facilities, our liturgies, and all that goes into making them worthy, holy celebrations. Sunday offerings fund the office, all of our staff, outreach to new parishioners, basics like heat and light, cleaning, snow removal, maintenance and upkeep of this amazing campus, support for our school, for Saint’s Place, insurance, supplies, the list goes on. And because God is so generous to many in our parish, who are then generous in response, we are able to tithe from the Sunday collection, so that our blessing also can be a blessing for others beyond our community. Thank you for being such good stewards!

Thank you for your generous support of Black, Native American and Hispanic Ministries last weekend, February 21 & 22.

A New Development

At our last parish Finance Council meeting, the idea was discussed of bringing together a Parish Wide Development Task Force, to explore our fund raising and event efforts across all missions, how to coordinate them more effectively, and how we might make good use of current best practices in the area of development. Do you have some expertise or passion in this area? Might it be a way to get more involved, to share your gifts and experience? Please e-mail or call Fr. Bob Ring@dor.org

THIS WEEK’S TITHING WILL SUPPORT CATHOLIC RELIEF SERVICES ASSISTANCE FOR EBOLA VIRUS VICTIMS IN WEST AFRICA

NEXT WEEK’S TITHING WILL SUPPORT BETHANY HOUSE

Bethany House, established in 1977, is a Catholic Worker House of Hospitality sheltering homeless women and children. It is located on Joseph Avenue in the City of Rochester, an area beset by poverty and violence. It serves the needs of women and their children in our area. Some of the women have been victims of domestic violence, some have been evicted from their homes, some are trying to recover from alcohol or drug abuse, some have been recently released from incarceration or have been hospitalized for illnesses of the mind or body. Whatever the case, all find a welcoming and supportive "home" at Bethany House.

Bethany House provides emergency shelter as well as a food cupboard and maintains a clothing room, all for no cost. Bethany House is supported solely through private and institutional donations from the general public and various businesses in the Rochester area. The "mission" of Bethany House" shines through the generosity of donors and volunteers to carry the mantle of taking care "of the least among us".

The St. Louis Youth Group has had many wonderful experiences at Bethany House. For the five years, we have volunteered on an on-going basis preparing meals, playing with kids, forming friendships with both the guests and staff, praying together, cleaning, yard work and planting flowers. Through these service opportunities, we felt like we received much more than we gave. We find Bethany House to be an inspirational place filled with hope, compassion and wonderful people.

Ways to Get Involved:

Bethany house is always open to visitors, volunteers and donations.

- Donations of non-perishable food items are needed to keep the food shelter stocked.
- Donations of gently used clothes are needed. (Women’s clothes, children’s clothes - Winter clothes especially needed)
- Donations of toiletries supplies are needed.
- Volunteers are welcome to come in and prepare a meal, visit with guests, play games with children.
- Volunteers are also welcome to come in to help stock the food cupboard, sort clothes, clean and help with other jobs.
- Although the main focus is building relationships, monetary donations are always welcomed and appreciated.

If you are interested in helping out, or finding out more about this great place contact director Donna Ecker at 454-4197 or rbethan1@rochester.rr.com.

Hungering for a Bountiful Earth

This week CRS Rice Bowl takes us to the coffee highlands of Nicaragua, where we’re called to protect both the goodness of creation and the livelihoods of struggling families. How will this week’s fast remind us of the sacredness of God’s creation and our duty to protect it? Melvin Sánchez Ramirez makes his living as a coffee farmer in one of the poorest regions of Nicaragua. For him, his wife and his son, it has always been a challenge. Then coffee leaf rust, a fungus, killed so many plants, he had no coffee to sell. His family struggled to put food on the table. Catholic Relief Services is helping farmers like Melvin learn how to protect their plants from leaf rust and teaching them to grow other crops, like plantains and sweet potatoes. Some farmers in the area are even learning to keep bees for honey and raise hens for eggs. Not only do these crops add nutritious variety to family meals, they bring vital diversity to plantings so the family isn’t relying on one crop for their livelihood. With the money he earns by selling these new crops, Melvin is able to put food on his family’s table. And he invests some of that money in a CRS-supported savings group. Together, the group members are able to save their money and offer loans to help one another prepare for the future. By planning ahead and working together, families like Melvin’s are making sure they have bountiful farms and better futures.

Don’t forget to download the CRS Rice Bowl app at www.crs.org/ricebowl-app! Remember, your Lenten sacrifices change lives. Faith. Action. Results.

Hi Teens,

Pope Francis has given us some great tips about Lent. Whether your Lenten practices are off to a great start or you need to refocus a bit, consider the following ideas.

1. Get rid of the lazy habits : Lent can be a great time to break habits that keep you from being your best self.

2. Do something that hurts : Challenge yourself to do something during Lent that will be hard and strengthen your resolve.

3. Pray : Lent is the perfect time to look at your prayer life and consider ways to better focus.

4. Evangelize those around you : Use your Lenten practices to inspire your friends and family, and as an opportunity to share your beliefs and traditions with others.

Please join us for some of our upcoming events. We’d love to have you!

Have a great week and see you on Sunday!

Molly and Mr. McBride
