Blessings to Mothers and Grandmothers!

This weekend we celebrate Mother’s Day, and the timing seems just perfect. Last weekend, so many proud mothers and grandmothers, smiling inside and out at our First Communion celebrations. They should be smiling and proud – what a terrific group of young boys and girls – congratulations all! Wednesday will be another moment of joy for many mothers and grandmothers, with Confirmation at Sacred Heart Cathedral. Congratulations in advance! Graduations won’t be far behind. Each of these reflects much preparation, nurturing, love and support. Thank you, moms and dads, for fulfilling those promises you made at baptism about bringing your children up in the practice of the faith.

While on the topic of moments of gratitude and joy, let me put in a good word for our next baby blessing Mass, coming up June 15. This is a wonderful tradition instituted by our Elizabeth Ministry, when we invite families who have had an infant baptized recently to come for a special blessing, with a nice reception following.

Moms – God bless you all. For every joyful day, like First Communion or Confirmation, you have put in plenty of challenging days, requiring untold patience. The words from our second reading today about suffering for doing good apply, not just in a general way to the Christian life; they apply uniquely to each vocation, including parenthood. No one who has never shed tears can really understand the fullness of love. Jesus speaks of his mission in the Gospel today: he has come that we might have life, and have it more abundantly. For me, he is naming the grace, the divine ability to stir together joy, sorrow, abundance, loss, heartache and healing, and then to discover in the mix something rich, far beyond what any individual ingredient has to offer. Jesus could combine peaceful days on the Sea of Galilee, and storms; the joy of feeding the hungry, healing the sick, forgiveness, words of blessing, seeing the glory of God, with rejection, crucifixion and death. At the end of the day: resurrection and eternity, union with God.

Please be sure to open this week’s bulletin. Take time; reflect on the readings further. Check out what is coming up. Don’t just look for things of interest to you. Look with an eye to others. Do you know someone you might offer to bring to the bereavement Mass? That could be a good deed. Or just hand them a bulletin and extend the invitation. What about the baby blessing Mass? Please feel free to invite new parents who may not even have thought about baptism, or who may not be church goers. This could be a first step. Finally, read, not just to discover what others are doing, but to pray about what ministry may need you. We are looking for additional members for Elizabeth Ministry. Next week, watch for more in the bulletin. Meanwhile, God bless you all, especially those for whom this Mother’s Day may be difficult. Peace, Fr. Bob

Repent and Be Baptized
There is repentance, and then there is repentance. After Peter finished his Pentecost sermon (our first reading today), those present were so moved, so compelled, they asked fervently “What do we do now?” Accept that Jesus is Lord and Savior; repent and be baptized, Peter responds. This repentance is not simply being sorry for this sin or that in one’s daily life. Repentance included reassessing what they had thought about Jesus. Turn away from thinking he is not important, or, as some had, from not accepting him, and what he taught, did and claimed; accept that he is the Messiah, sent by God for our salvation. Today is no different. Before a baptism, we have the renewal of baptismal promises, which includes two sets of questions; first, do you reject sin, Satan and the attraction of evil? Then, do you believe that Jesus is the Christ, and believe all that he taught and handed on to us? Early in the church, sometimes this repentance was even expressed bodily. Those to be baptized would face outward, toward the darkness (as again these days, the Easter Vigil was after dark) to reject sin and Satan and all his empty promises. Then the catechumens would turn toward the assembly of believers, and profess their faith.

Another Face of Patience
We don’t keep track. But if we did, I am guessing most priests would say that they hear as much about ‘lack of patience’ in the confessional as any other failing. Most commonly, this has to do with a lack of patience with children, or with one’s spouse, or possibly even with one’s parents. Yet our second reading today encourages a different kind of patience. Patience with suffering we experience for doing good. ‘Biting the hand that feeds you’ seems a particularly human phenomena. Today’s second reading calls us to pray for patience when our doing good is misunderstood, met with ingratitude, or even leads to suffering.

Shepherding 101
Shepherding was fairly common in the hill country of Galilee. Those listening to Jesus would have understood his pastoral images. At night, sheep were brought into a sheepfold, a safe protected place. Various flocks would be brought together to a common area. But in the morning, each shepherd would call to his flock. Recognizing the voice of their own shepherd, they would separate back out, each flock heading to its particular pasture, following their own shepherd. Exposure to the same voice leads to familiarity. Following the shepherd’s voice leads to safe pasture. How does that work for us? Pick up a Bible, spend plenty of time in the Gospels, and Jesus’ voice will become familiar!

One Additional Voice
Fruit from Tuesday morning’s Bible study: Perhaps the ‘having life more abundantly’ Jesus speaks of at the conclusion of today’s Gospel relates to having a life shaped and guided by love and kindness, not driven by competition. Are you free Tuesday mornings from 7:30-8:30AM? Please join us for Bible study in the Manse!

Grief: Getting Through the Day
This presentation on useful strategies and ways to grieve the loss of a friend or loved one will be led by Dr. Roslyn Karaban, Professor of Pastoral Counseling at St. Bernard's, and Michelle Allman, Bereavement Coordinator at Visiting Nurse Service. Attend either the 2:00 pm or 6:30 pm session on May 14 at St. Bernard's School of Theology and Ministry, 120 French Rd. Rochester, 14618. This seminar is FREE, but we ask you to please register by calling (585) 271-3657, ext. 289.

Funeral Still Fresh in Your Mind?
Spring flowers, trees and shrubs blooming, new life bursting everywhere – the Easter season can be a beautiful time of year, but difficult at the same time. Mother’s Day, Father’s Day – the first year without mom or dad; graduations, 1st communions, weddings, all can trigger a memory, or evoke an unexpected wave of grief. It helps to know we are not alone with these feelings, not alone trying to find Easter joy when loss takes hold. The Feast of All Souls is not the only time we should come together to pray for peace of heart, and pray for those who have died. We will have a Spring Bereavement Mass on Saturday, May 24th, 9:00 AM. Come, as we pray together, pray for our dear ones, and draw consolation from community. Following the Mass, our Pastoral Care Committee will host a light reception. Please be sure to invite anyone you know who has experienced the loss of a loved one this past year.

Baby Blessing Mass

Follow the Shepherd

This fourth Sunday of the Easter season is sometimes called Good Shepherd Sunday because in each of the three lectionary cycles, the Gospel reading invites us to reflect on Jesus as the Good Shepherd. In each cycle the reading is from the tenth chapter of John's Gospel. This chapter sets the framework for Jesus' teaching about himself as the Good Shepherd.

Throughout John's Gospel the Pharisees fail to accept Jesus' ministry and teaching. They show themselves to be “robbers and thieves” because they try to lead the sheep without entering through the gate, Jesus. Through these metaphors, Jesus is telling his listeners that those who follow him and his way will find abundant life. He identifies himself both as the shepherd and the gate. The shepherds who are faithful to him are the ones whom the sheep (Jesus' disciples) should follow.

Even though we have less experience with sheep and shepherds today in our society, we can still identify strongly with the image of Jesus as the Good Shepherd and as the gate for the sheep. Psalm 23 remains a popular and favorite psalm for prayer. In the image of the Good Shepherd, we know ourselves to be protected and cared for by a loving God.

As your family gathers, ask what each person knows about sheep and shepherds. Recall that shepherds and sheep have a close relationship. Sheep will only follow their own shepherd; they recognize his voice and will not follow a stranger. The shepherd's job is to protect his sheep. In some ways, the relationship between the shepherd and his sheep is like that of a parent and child. Talk about how Jesus tells us that he is the gate for the sheep. The sheep enter the protection of the sheepfold through the gate. In Jesus we find protection and abundant life.

Confirmation or Graduation: What will it be?

Children are born. We love, feed, and tend them. They grow. Growth is as vital to human well being as nourishment. The body and mind must grow to stay alive. We believe that the soul also needs to grow in the life of grace if it is to remain healthy and alive. Just as the human body must grow through childhood, Adolescence and then adulthood, the human soul needs to grow into maturity. Catholics believe that Confirmation is the supernatural equivalent of the growth process on the natural level. It builds on what began in Baptism and is nourished in Holy Eucharist. It completes the process of initiation into the Christian community, maturing the soul for the work ahead. In this Sacrament of Initiation, children become young adults in the Catholic faith. At Baptism, parents and godparents make promises to renounce Satan and believe in God and the Church on behalf of the child. At Confirmation, before the bishop, the confirmands renew those same promises, this time speaking for themselves.

Does this mean that confirmed kids participate in Mass on Sunday, and in religious education more faithfully, with less coercion? Don’t bet on it. Unfortunately, some are confirmed, but never come back for high school religious education. Even more troubling, some parents who made those faith promises at their child’s baptism drift away as well. Confirmation doesn’t change the person, but builds on what is already present. Good habits start early, which is why regular catechesis, prayer, study, and participating in Mass must follow Baptism through First Communion to Confirmation, and into adulthood. A good spiritual foundation is confirmed, and continues to grow and flourish, just as a well fed body and educated mind continues to grow and flourish.

So what takes place during Confirmation? The Holy Spirit is first introduced to a Catholic on the day of baptism; the entire Holy Trinity—Father, Son and Holy Spirit—are invoked at the ceremony. During Confirmation, just as God the Holy Spirit filled, empowered and strengthened the apostles on the day of Pentecost, so the Holy Spirit fills, empowers and strengthens those confirmed through the Confirmation process.

This sacrament is called Confirmation, because the faith given in Baptism is now confirmed and made strong. Confirmation means accepting responsibility for our faith and destiny. During childhood, we are told what to do; we react positively to reward and negatively to punishment. Adulthood, even young adulthood, means that we must do what’s right on our own, not for recognition or reward but because it is the right thing to do. We celebrate empowerment by the Holy Spirit at Confirmation, the same Holy Spirit who confirmed the apostles on Pentecost, and gave them courage to practice and share their faith. That same Holy Spirit confirms us during the Sacrament of Confirmation, and gives us the same courage to practice and share our faith.

As our young adults are confirmed next week, let us pray for them, and for their parents. No, it is not a graduation ceremony, or an end to learning and growing! This is the beginning of a rich new phase of living and sharing faith.

Pope Francis Speaks to Mothers

In February, 2005, then-Cardinal Jorge Mario Bergoglio chose to celebrate the Mass for Holy Thursday in a maternity hospital in Buenos Aires, where he washed the feet of twelve expectant and new mothers. Before he washed their feet, he told them, "Some of you are holding your babies in your arms. Others of you are carrying them in your womb. All of you are women who have chosen life. I as a priest, am going to repeat the act of Jesus, and carry out a concrete act of service for women who have said yes to life. In washing your feet, I am washing those of all mothers, and of my mother, who felt me in her womb."
