Christ and Consecration

Have you noticed how often the Bible, our prayers, rituals and symbols of our liturgical life are interwoven? Let me illustrate, moving from the Bible, to Holy Thursday, to this week, our Gospel, and beyond.

First a few Biblical roots. Psalm 23:5 reads, "You anoint my head with oil," signifying favor and strength from the Lord. In Psalm 45:8, "You love justice and hate wickedness; therefore, God your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness above your fellow kings," signifying a special designation from God and the joy of being God’s servant. In the Gospel of Luke (4:18), Jesus echoed Isaiah’s words when he began his ministry: "The spirit of the Lord is upon me; therefore, He has anointed me".

Each year at the Chrism Mass, the Bishop consecrates holy oils for our use in the sacraments. To consecrate means to proclaim something or someone holy, and then set it (or them) apart for a sacred purpose. With prayer, the oils are set apart for sacramental celebrations.

Some olive oil is set apart as the Oil of Catechumens. Praying with someone preparing for baptism, we anoint them with this oil following the prayer of exorcism. No, the person isn’t possessed by evil. Rather, this anointing symbolizes that to be possessed by God, we need God’s help and strength, to sever any bondage of the past, and overcome Satan’s opposition. Only then can we profess our faith, come to baptism, and live as a child of God. With an infant, the prayer acknowledges evil in the world; a prayer of protection.

On the way from the Bible to today, we have the early church. In The Apostolic Tradition (215 AD) St. Hippolytus spoke of anointing after baptism with the "oil of thanksgiving." At our baptisms this month and next, watch the anointing, listen to the prayer: "God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ has freed you from sin and given you a new birth by water and the Holy Spirit. He now anoints you with the chrism of salvation. As Christ was anointed Priest, Prophet, and King, so may you live always as a member of His body, sharing everlasting life. Amen." Tuesday, as Bishop Matano anointed our confirmation candidates, he said, "Be sealed with the gift of the Holy Spirit." (continued on page 3)

Let’s Flip a Coin
Perhaps you’ve heard this passage from Acts of the Apostles often; the idea that the 11 chose someone to take Judas’ place by casting lots barely registers anymore. But think about it—such an important decision. Casting lots? (like flipping a coin) Look closely, and there is wisdom to be found. First, they established criteria. Then, who qualified? The two best candidates were identified. Next, they prayed. Why, in the end, did they resort to casting lots; flipping a coin? In the Old Testament, 70 times casting lots is referred to when an impartial decision was needed. There certainly was precedent. Apparently, after careful consideration and prayer, both men stood equally acceptable. Also, all were truly open to whichever way the decision might fall. By casting lots, they avoided human subjectivity muddying the waters. Have you ever had to decide between two perfectly equal choices? It happens. All subsequent evidence in this case indicates the process worked!

Being Consecrated
Today we hear Jesus’ high priestly prayer, sometimes called the prayer of consecration. We hear the word at Mass. It isn’t an unfamiliar word. But what exactly does Jesus mean, ‘I consecrate myself for them’? What is he asking of the Father in praying that we be consecrated? Well, when a church is consecrated, it is declared to be holy, and set aside for a mission, for sacred use. In that case, to be the building where the church community gathers. A home for God’s people. Jesus set himself apart, as the holy one of God, with a mission—a sacred purpose. To heal and forgive, to teach and shape, and to become a sacrifice for the sake of us all. In this prayer, Jesus declares those who believe in him holy, setting us apart, to share in his mission: loving people into wholeness, being instruments of forgiveness and reconciliation, sharing the faith, helping others become disciples, and offering our lives to God in gratitude. What difference could your being consecrated make in what you do this Sunday?

Looking ahead:

In Lieu of Flowers

If you read the obituaries, then the phrase ‘In lieu of flowers’ is quite familiar. When you are called home to God, how would you like friends to mark your passing? As a final act, what could you ask folks to support? Have you had that conversation with your family? Please consider inviting friends to make a donation to St. Louis Parish, St. Louis School or Saint’s Place in lieu of flowers.

If your parent or loved one left no instructions, but loved their parish, had a commitment to Catholic Education or had a warm place in their heart for the ministry of Saint’s Place, let others know when you make arrangements with the funeral home and compose an obituary. It can be a powerful witness about what is truly important.

This weekend, May 16 and 17, we observe Diocesan Missions Sunday. Proclaiming the Gospel is not something we can do once, but is an ongoing part of pilgrimage as Church. This is the message of the new evangelization. Our dedicated Sisters of St. Joseph marking fifty years of presence in Brazil and the Sisters of Mercy in Chile have been on pilgrimage sharing their gift of faith and service to God’s people. We are called to help them this weekend with our prayers and a sacrificial gift, so that they may continue to bring Christ into a world where darkness, despair and emptiness prevail. Surely, we can help to bring hope to them.

Quick Assistance to Nepal

After the devastating earthquake in Nepal, Bishop Matano invited parishes to take up a second collection to assist Catholic Relief Services in their efforts to provide food, water, and help with long term recovery. Thanks to the recent changes in our tithing process, we had the money on hand to send a check from tithing immediately.

Any additional assistance would be most welcome. Simply put an envelope in the collection next week with your name, address, and Nepal written on the outside and in the memo field of your check, and we will add that to the $1,000 we have already sent.

What will our money do? CRS and their partner Caritas Nepal are supporting 10,000 families with emergency shelter, blankets, water treatment kits and hygiene kits. Because this region is known for earthquakes, CRS had prepositioned emergency aid in nearby Bihar, India, so temporary shelter kits, water purification kits and hygiene kits for 2,000 families were transported to Nepal immediately after the quake.

Please keep all those affected by the earthquake and the rescue workers in your prayers. For more information or to give directly online, visit Catholic Relief Services online at CRS.org.

Looking Towards the Holy Year of Mercy
Pope Francis has decided to call an extraordinary Jubilee, that is to have the mercy of God at its center. We want to live this year in the light of the Lord’s words: “Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful. (Lk. 6:36)”. The Holy Year will begin on this coming Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception, December 8, 2015, and end on November 20, 2016, the Sunday dedicated to Our Lord, Jesus Christ, King of the Universe! Here are some of Pope Francis’ thoughts on mercy and ways to reflect on those thoughts:

“We have at our disposal so much information and so many statistic on poverty and human tribulation. This is a risk of being highly informed bystanders and disembodied from these realities or to have nice discussions that end up in verbal solutions and disengagement from the real problems. Too many words, too many words and nothing is done! What’s needed is work, Christian testimony, going to the suffering, getting close to them as Jesus did.”

Reflection: Do we currently practice a corporal work of mercy on a regular basis? Find a way to help someone consistently, no matter how small your effort might be. Be part of the solution, and be a witness of God’s mercy to change the world.

“Today we can think of the Church as a “field hospital”………Mercy first means treating wounds. When someone is wounded he needs this immediately, not test such as the level of cholesterol and one’s glycemic index…specialized treatments can be done, but first we need to treat the open wounds.”

Reflection: What wounds do you see around you? Who is hurting and has distanced themselves from you or others? What can you do to respond to them immediately?
The following community groups assisted us in various ways. Some did collections for us and others volunteered their time and talents. All made a huge difference in the lives of many refugees struggling to start over and achieve that American dream.

- Monroe Community College students spent a day assisting at the Clothing Closet.
- Mercy Middle School students spent a morning at the Clothing Closet.
- St. John of Rochester Religious Ed did a huge collection of cleaning products, diapers and toiletries for the refugees.
- Saint John Fisher School of Pharmacy students spent a day assisting at the Clothing Closet. They helped refugees select clothing and did a household set up for a Somali family of 11.
- St. Bonaventure University students spent a Saturday morning setting up an apartment for a newly arriving refugee family and helped 23 Burmese refugees select clothing at our Clothing Closet.
- St. Louis School PK3 and PK4 students’ coin collections will help buy khaki pants for the refugee students at the Rochester International Academy.
- Pittsford Rotary assists one Saturday morning a month with home setups.
- St. Louis Knights of Columbus have joined the roster of Saint’s Place volunteers.
- Confirmation students from St. Louis spent a morning helping refugees select clothing, sorting children’s books and filling backpacks for the refugee children.
- Two Eagle Scouts candidates are working on projects involving building bookcases and archives.
- Rochester International Academy (a Rochester City School for newly arrived refugees) sent students to help at the Clothing Closet. They were able to translate and communicate the needs of a Somali Family of eleven who had been in the United States less than 12 hours!

Have YOU been thinking about becoming a Catholic?
Ask yourself . . .

- Are you, or someone you know, not Catholic but would like to learn more about the teachings of the Catholic faith?
- Do you have questions about what Catholics believe and how Catholics practice their faith?
- Are you a Catholic adult seeking the Sacraments of Initiation because you did not receive them when you were younger?

The RCIA process at St. Louis is year round and we:
meet people where they are on their faith journey
design a process of preparation that will work for all study together and at home

If you have been coming to the Catholic Church for years and have not become fully initiated now is the time to take that step. If you have not practiced a faith, think more about becoming Catholic. We are here to walk with you wherever you are on your faith journey.
