Sharing Our Blessings

I love the theme. Our Catholic Ministries Appeal Campaign launches this weekend, with a theme of Sharing Our Blessings. The last few weeks we have had the opportunity to hear just how blessed we are here at St. Louis. Like Jesus preaching the beatitudes, this year’s CMA video provides an opportunity to see blessings throughout our diocese, in expected and in unexpected places. Blessings in giving, blessings in receiving. Our contributions to the CMA help provide direct services to people throughout our diocese, support to communities, including ours. When we share our blessings, we help others experience the goodness of God and God’s good people. Through the smiles and warmth we see in the video, we receive blessings as well, and when we are called home, and God says “well done, good and faithful servant!” we receive the greatest blessing of all! Please let me get us started with these thoughts:

10 reasons to make a gift to the CMA

Your Catholic Ministries Appeal gift, joined with thousands of others around our diocese, is an investment in the future: the future of our church. Each contribution is also an investment in our own future, as we put our faith into action. What will our contribution do?

1. Fund ministries that help parents raise children and teenagers in our Catholic faith, teaching values they will carry into adulthood, which will serve them throughout life’s challenges.
2. Help educate our seminarians on the road to priestly ordination, providing the next generation of priests to share the sacraments and bless our parishes and people.
3. Ensure we can help struggling families be lifted out of economic crisis, restoring them to stability again.
4. Prepare engaged couples for the sacrament of marriage, creating strong families.
5. Educate and prepare those who wish to become Catholic for the fullness of life in the Church through RCIA.
6. Enable us to promote Catholic values about the sanctity of all life, helping to give voice to the voiceless.
7. Fund programs that give young adults on college campuses a connection to the Church.
8. Provide important services to our parish that we would find difficult, inefficient or wasteful to orchestrate on our own.
9. Support ministries that are a true blessing for the aged, the sick, and the imprisoned.
10. Help fund the crucial work of Catholic Charities, which serves families and individuals in need, more than 250,000 annually. We share blessings with them, they are a blessing to us.

Please make a generous pledge to the CMA this year. Peace, Fr. Bob

What To Remember
The events we read in the Old Testament, and the Gospels as well, took place long before being preserved in writing. First they were passed along orally, followed by a process of coming to the written word we have today. So this pouring out of the Spirit, and Joshua’s concern, took place long before the book of Numbers was written. Why were particular stories remembered, while others undoubtedly not? Two key factors are either the significance of the event, or how it was helpful in addressing later needs of the community. In this passage, both may be the case. This marked a significant time of transition for Moses and the community he led. But the story also addresses a perennial challenge – understanding and maintaining a critical balance. God can operate through institutions (the set procedure for those who were chosen and gathered). But God can also operate in charismatic ways outside of established procedures (the two who missed the meeting but received the Spirit anyway.) Official folks can have prophetic inspiration, but so can others. Joshua represents the institutional approach. The two were absent, so should be prevented from prophesying. Moses sees it differently. If God wants to pour out the spirit on them as well, excellent. In fact, wouldn’t it be great if everyone were more attuned to God’s will, filled with the spirit, able to exercise inspired judgement, given the wisdom to resolve conflicts? Where do your proclivities lie? Controlling who is doing good, keeping things managed, or letting God pour out the spirit in unexpected ways? We can all pray for a healthy balance, respect for both ways God operates.

Minimum Wage Issues
James has some harsh words, not unlike the Old Testament prophets of the 8th and 7th centuries. Cheating folks out of a living wage is not just a political issue, it is a moral, spiritual, and religious issue. Leaving God and religious insight out of the picture is simply a sin, a sure path to perdition. James also sees clearly how being surrounded by wealth can block folks ability to even see the very little ones mentioned in the Gospel, to see their need, and to see how some of that wealth rightly should be feeding and clothing those little ones.

Of Many Things
Today’s Gospel includes several different things tied together. The first section addresses the same issue we find in the first reading today. Next a word about the reward for caring for God’s little ones. Little ones link the next piece, not causing them scandal, that is, we must not put a stumbling block in the way of their path the virtue, leading them to sin. Finally, counsel about taking sin very seriously. To bring that home forcefully, Jesus uses hyperbole, a powerful tool in his and any good preaching. The conclusion of today’s Gospel is not intended to encourage self-mutilation. It is to shake us up. Translating his analogy into 21st century terms, would it be wise to say of a cancerous tumor “Oh, it’s OK, everyone has a few.”? Of course not! Ok then, identify the tumor (the sin), use some chemo-therapy (prayer, fasting, discipline, good deeds) to reduce its size, and then cut it out. The concluding section of this Gospel is great to bring to an examination of conscience!

Families that Serve: Matthew 25:35-36

...I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you welcomed me, I was naked and you gave me clothing, I was sick and you took care of me.

It’s never too early to begin connecting faith and works with our children and teens. As Autumn moves along, we find ourselves looking for ways to serve those in our community that need a hand. Here are some easy family ideas for children of all ages:

- Hospice care packages
- Caroling for canned goods
- Thanksgiving and Christmas cards for the homebound
- Backpacks for the homeless (fill backpacks with high-protein snacks, wipes, bottles of water, travel-sized toiletries, hand warmers, gloves, socks, feminine products)

If you are interested in having your family participate in a service related opportunity, please reach out the Faith Formation Office for a list of agencies that are in need.

The Great Earthquake of 2010 centered in the vicinity of St. Damien Pediatric Hospital and further exacerbated by the ensuing cholera epidemic energized our parish’s resolve of almost 30 years to help parish friend, Passionist priest, and physician Fr. Rick Frechette. Outbursts of crime and torrential rains coupled with the void left by the demise of other hospitals continue to push us further into helping St. Damien Pediatric Hospital, Haiti’s only children’s hospital free to the indigent.

Local McQuaid grad Angelo Rose, Esq. (musician/song composer of “Haiti’s Rain” and other pro-bono CD’s about Haiti) met documentarian Will Agee and learned of his mission to show the positive outcome of our generosity.

Please join us for a private film screening of Will Agee’s documentary, The Land of High Mountains about Haiti’s progress... See how St. Louis along with its many partners has given HOPE to Haiti by supporting this hospital and people like Fr. Rick Frechette who arrived decades ago and remained to make sustainable changes. All proceeds from the Friday, October 20 event at the Little Theatre (a Rochester treasure) will go to St. Damien Pediatric Hospital. Visit landofhighmountains.com to learn more about the film.

Tickets for the film screening only are $30 each. Tickets for the Angelo Rose and his Good Trip Band concert at the East End Pub following film are $30. When both tickets are purchased together, the total is $50.

Theatre doors open at 5PM with a short introductory pre-film video at 5:15.

Tickets to this private documentary film screening, which has already earned the “Award of Excellence” at the INDIE Film Festival, plus film screening sponsorship opportunities can be found at www.nphusa.org/haitisrain

Join us for a unique Fruit-of-the-Vine session where we explore a different way of praying with images, called visio divina (Latin for “divine seeing”).

CURB YOUR CAR WEEK 2018 FALL EDITION
Sunday, October 7 through Saturday, October 13

Families throughout the greater Rochester area and beyond will pledge to leave their cars home for one or more trips during the week. Did you know that every gallon of gasoline burned emits 19 pounds of carbon dioxide to our air and contributes to climate change? Walking is just one way to participate. You can walk, bike, take the bus, carpool, telecommute, or combine trips! If you want to join the movement, show your support register as a participant in this special week by going to colorbrightongreen.org/initiatives/curb-your-car-week/

At the end of Curb Your Car week we ask you to report the number of driving miles you avoided and the miles per gallon your vehicle achieves. Results will be shared on our website and in an email to you a couple of weeks after the event. Register to have your miles saved counted!

What's it like to be a migrant farmworker?

Seth Holmes, a doctor and anthropologist at the University of California, Berkeley, spent more than a year and half with migrant farmworkers from Mexico — many of them are from the same isolated town in the southern state of Oaxaca — for his book Fresh Fruit, Broken Bodies: Migrant Farmworkers in the United States. It is not easy to look closely at the parts of our life we take for granted, but as followers of Christ, we must. By purchasing the book or by becoming informed, we can shape our conscience in accordance with God’s plan for human dignity and worth.

To access a thought provoking interview go to tinyurl.com/y8xhvcfm

You are invited!

St. John of Rochester in Fairport is participating in the nationwide Feast of our Lady of the Rosary on Sunday, October 7th at 4pm.

All participating churches nationwide will say the rosary together at 4pm that day in an effort to restore the Catholic Faith.
